in this truly inspirational memoir anita moorjani relates how after fighting cancer for almost four years her body began shutting down overwhelmed by the malignant cells spreading throughout her system as her organs failed she entered into an extraordinary near death experience where she realized her inherent worth and the actual cause of her disease upon regaining consciousness anita found that her condition had improved so rapidly that she was released from the hospital within weeks without a trace of cancer in her body within these pages anita recounts stories of her childhood in hong kong her challenge to establish her career and find true love as well as how she eventually ended up in that hospital bed where she defied all medical knowledge as part of a traditional hindu family residing in a largely chinese and british society anita had been pushed and pulled by cultural and religious customs since she was a little girl after years of struggling to forge her own path while trying to meet everyone else s expectations she had the realization as a result of her epiphany on the other side that she had the power to heal herself and that there are miracles in the universe that she d never even imagined in dying to be me anita freely shares all she has learned about illness healing fear being love and the true magnificence of each and every human being this is a book that definitely makes the case that we are spiritual beings having a human experience and that we are all one from fashion to food and their famous je ne sais quoi attitude toward life itself everybody wants to be french but a passion can quickly turn into an obsession the city of light begins to dim when the body of a teenage girl is discovered floating in the seine and then another and it quickly becomes clear that the paris police are out of their depth when the desperate american mother of a newly missing teen comes to beg for claire s help to find her troubled daughter before it s too late how can claire say no at once brave and athletic virtuous and modest female martyrs in the second and third centuries were depicted as self possessed gladiators who at the same time exhibited the quintessentially womanly qualities of modesty fertility and beauty Stephanie Cobb explores the double embodiment of male and female gender ideals in these figures connecting them to Greco-Roman virtues and the construction of Christian group identities both male and female martyrs conducted their battles in the amphitheater a masculine environment that enabled the divine combatants to showcase their strength virility and volition these Christian martyr accounts also illustrated masculinity through the language of justice resistance to persuasion and more subtly but most effectively the juxtaposition of unmanly individuals usually slaves the old or the young with those at the height of male maturity and accomplishment such as the governor or the proconsul imbuing female martyrs with the same strengths as their male counterparts served a vital function in Christian communities faced with the possibility of persecution Christians sought to inspire both men and women to be braver than pagan and Jewish men yet within the community itself traditional gender roles had to be maintained and despite the call to be manly Christian women were expected to remain womanly in relation to the men of their faith complicating our understanding of the social freedoms enjoyed by early Christian women Cobb's investigation reveals the dual function of gendered language in martyr texts and its importance in laying claim to social power this is an amazing true story of a woman whose loved ones were given a chance to share with her the amazing beauty of the afterworld and what they were seeing before their transition to what is believed to be heaven or paradise as she recalls events of her life that occurred before and after she lost her loved one signs are given to her that there is joy and peace with the souls of her loved ones two writers and an illustrator walk into a book and find themselves with thirty eight questions about death asked by boys and girls between 5 and 15 years old how and what will they answer for mortal beings of all ages comes Dying To Ask the result of an international project where children were invited to ask questions about death based on a series of workshops the result hundreds of questions from countries all over the world herein lies thirty eight questions that best represented the breadth and depth of children s interest in death and related matters complete with psychological and scientific proofing thoughtful tender and surprisingly joyful this illustrated book is an invitation to talk think and ask further questions about death some of the questions will i die where do we go when we die will we all become extinct one day if someone you love dies how long are you sad for why do people say rest in peace rather than rest in fun dying to be alive is the first hand account of an incredible experience in 2008 the author suffered a heart attack and found himself in an ambulance blacking out and in immediate danger of death he describes the experience of being in the presence of angels engaged in conversation with jesus and then being offered the choice to return to life on earth or to continue living in heaven the story does not stop there he traces the intervention of god on his life as he recounts the journey through life that saw him threatened by a cult and suffering the death of his brain injured daughter this is a story of life and death that extends well beyond our routine earthly existence and offers an intriguing glimpse into the timeless realm of eternity this book offers more than a story it opens the way to an encounter with heaven that reaches from beyond this world deep into the heart and soul

please note this is a companion version not the original book sample book insights 1 i was in a coma and i was aware of everything that was happening around me i was extremely excited to be free from the pain caused by the cancer that had ravaged my body i wanted my family to share my joy but they were instead fearful and anxious 2 i realized that even if my physical body stopped i still belonged i felt completely bathed in pure unconditional love and it made me feel as though i d finally arrived 3 i was born in singapore and i was raised in three different cultures i was afraid of my father but i admired and looked up to my brother i didn t question the values of my culture because i was too young at the time 4 i loved going to the market with my nanny ah fong i would gaze out the window as the tram made its way through the crowded narrow streets of
